FEEDING STARVING WORLD TOO BIG A JOB FOR US

WASHINGTON. - The food campaign is running into ever-deepening difficulties.

The sweeping publicity campaign to induce Americans to save for the hungry in the rest of the world the moment the coal strike became serious, but only temporarily. There was no use considering food saving when a fuel tie-up and transportation curtailment threatened spoilage of indefinite proportions. But the tenor of the campaign had made everyone believe that the problem of alleviating world hunger was simply dependent upon a resolution by the American people to eat less. Any objective investigation will prove these following greater facts to the contrary (A) No matter what our savings, we will not be able to give the world the bulk of foods we have promised. (B) We have moved so late that we are not simply taking food from our tables, but have become involved in promises which will cause a fast and sharp decline in our own food production.

(C) For this year, and possibly two or three, we will get less meat, butter and cheese than in the war years of rationing. Our diets will be changed to cereals, vegetables and fruits which should be available in sufficient quantities to stave off hunger here.

The need of many sections of the world for food has now been established beyond question, although the earlier whooping-up campaign contained much hokum about nonexistent needs. An army news resume currently quotes Brigadier General Fisher of our occupation forces as saying the German farms are the most prosperous in the world today. Another similar report of equal authority says there are no starving Bavarians. The British ministry has announced sufficient stores of food in that nation to meet rationing quotas in all lines, even butter and cheese which are practically non-existent in "white" markets here.

WHERE SHORTAGES ARE

The European shortages are largely in the Russian occupied areas, plus Italy, Greece and some parts of France. The two ships diverted from England by headman La Guardia of UNRRA, went to Russian occupied zones. Yet the need in actual hunger areas is real. So is it also on the other side of the world, in India, China and the Philippines.

To meet these needs we have entered upon a complete upsetting of our economy to the point of promoting further reduced production, particularly of livestock, all forms of animal foods, poultry, hogs, sheep, dairy and beef cattle. Our beef cattle population, which last year numbered 83 million, has run below 80 million and is going down fast. On a prewar ratio to population, we should have over 100 million beef cattle. The pig crop has been limited to 31 million, which is about three-fourths of what could be considered normal.

These curtailments were forced because wheat and corn feed stocks have been cut in order to send them to the rest of the world. In short, by sending feed abroad we can do no more than produce threefourths our usual number of pigs. A government order denies chicken feed to any poultry raiser having more than 80 per cent of the numper of chickens he had last year. This will force a 20 per cent reduction in poultry population. While there are no particular restrictions on beef cattle feed, it cannot be purchased, and unless the farmer has corn, oats and hay, he must sell his cattle. Similarly, the government is promoting the sale of hogs, at lighter weights than usual-which will decrease production further FUTURE FULL OF 'IFS'

Where we go from here is a problem of many "ifs." If we do not undertake a world food export program another year, we may restore normal livestock supplies in two or three years. Only poultry and pigs can be restored in less time, and pigs require about nine months. If we have a good crop, our own food situation will be no worse than related above, but the optimistic government expectations on the wheat crop are already running into doubt.

Officially they talk of more than a billion bushels, but the local moisture situation has indicated the winter wheat crop will not justify any such guess on the year as a

You might ask why the government does not promote expansion of production. It got aroused about food a little too late for that. To feed the hungry abroad there is nothing to be done now except to curtail domestic consumption, and enter the country largely upon a fruit and vegetable diet for an indefinite period.

U. S. DEMANDS PEACE BE MADE IN EUROPE

Byrnes Signals U.S. Offensive To Win the Peace; Congressional Chiefs Oppose Service Merger

Released by Western Newspaper Union, (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are these of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOREIGN POLICY:

Byrnes Reports

Back from the foreign ministers' parley in Paris, Secretary of State Byrnes took to the radio to air this country's position on the important question left at issue and reffirm its determination to press firmly but patiently ahead for world understanding despite all obstacles.

While the U.S. may be tempted to pull out of Europe because of the difficulties encountered in drawing peace without sacrifice of our principles, to do so would be to risk the possibility of another world war in which we would again have to participate, Byrnes said. Therefore, we must take the offensive to assure adoption of U. S. principles, he said.

Bluntly attributing existing differences to Russian jockeyings for advantage, Byrnes declared that the crying need was for a European peace paving the way for orderly production and distribution. If the Soviets continued to block the making of peace and the convening of a peace parley, the U.S. will feel obligated to ask the United Nations under article 14 of the charter to recommend terms of a settlement.

In reporting on the Paris parley, Byrnes outlined these differences between the U. S. and Russia:

Reparations- While Russia demanded the payment of 100 million dollars in reparations from Italy out of production, the U.S. balked because the financial help we are furnishing Italy to get back on her feet would thus be diverted for the benefit of another country.

CONGRESS:

Hit Merger

While calling for closer co-operation between the army and navy departments, the chairmen of congressional naval committees warned Secretary of the Navy Forrestal not to enter into a compromise with Secretary of War Patterson for merging the services since congress would not approve of such a consolidation.

"We believe the bill (for merger) accentuates the differences be-tween the services," Senator Walsh and Representative Vinson of the senate and house naval committees widen the breach since naval officers are convinced . . . that naval war. They are also convinced . . . ! naval aviation and amphibious forces will play a major role in preventing any potential enemy from bringing war to our shores.'

COLLEGES:

Crowded Future

Because of the shortages of housing, facilities, books and teachers, the nation's colleges will be unable to take care of a postwar rush partly prompted by the G.I. bill of rights educational benefits for vets.

In reviewing the college picture for next fall, Reconversion Director Snyder declared that only half of the 2 million people desiring to enroll in higher schools of learning will be able to do so, including 690,000 vets. In 1946-'47 alone, the government will spend at least 1 billion dollars on G.I.s, he said, with expenditures over the years totaling 6 billion.

U. N.:

FAO Meets

Formation of a United Nations food administration to direct world food policies during the period of scarcity and reconstruction was urged by Herbert Hoover at the opening session of the U. N.'s food and agriculture organization in Washington, D. C.

While such an administration would co-ordinate governmental efforts at relieving the critical food situation, Hoover recommended that it set its sights at restoring private distribution and production of farm machinery, fertilizer and other material as quickly as possible.

Declaring charity programs were wasteful and inefficient, Hoover said private commerce could provide more economical and reliable service to farmers, merchants and consumers.

SPEEDSTERS:

Having passed qualifying tests, 33 speedsters were entered in the first renewal 500 mile automobile race at Indianapolis since 1941 with $100,000 in prize money at stake.

With drivers required to average 115 miles an hour or better in four runs on the 21/2 mile track in order to qualify for the Memorial Day event, the veteran Cliff Bergere chalked up the fastest speed in the early trials at 126.47 miles per hour. | make another 33 per cent increase.

World Farmers Unite

The International Federation of Agriculture, the first such international organization comprised of individual memberships by farmers' organizations from most of the nations represented in U. N., comes into being as a result of a meeting of farm leaders from throughout the world in London.

James Turner, president of the British National Farmers union, was the moving spirit in calling the London conference and in formation of the new organization. As head of a delegation of British farmers which traveled half-way around the world to study conditions in Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the United States, he found a widespread belief that the primary producers of the world must organize if they were to be protected against uncertainties of the postwar period.

Put Sales Goal At 200 Billion If Strikes End

CHICAGO.-A total of 200 billion dollars in merchandise still could be produced and sold in 1946 if strikes and threats of strikes could be eliminated, Gene Flack, vice president of the National Federation of Sales Executives, declared here

As an annual sales goal for coming years, Mr. Flack put 140 billion dollars as a satisfactory figure. Such a total would provide 531/2 million jobs, he said, "enough to make certain that this nation will avoid any possibility of a depression."

Flack asserted that if the engineering and sales abilities of American manufacturers could lift sales to a total of 150 billions during the war years, certainly America could

Atomic War Could Force Return to Primitive Life

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Mid-June welcomes a gathering to Washington which will deal with a subject more important to you and me than anything I can think The meeting is described as an "institute on the control of atomic energy." At about the same time, the United Nations commission on Atomic Energy will be meeting too.

At the "institute" in Washington, authorities will explain just what effect atomic energy can have on your life if you are one of those who aren't going to be destroyed by it. I was going to say "one of the lucky ones," but you won't be lucky, if atomic warfare starts, even if you are among those whose lives are

We have all heard a lot of dire prophecies about what the atom bomb can do, if it once gets on the loose. Also, what wonders atomic energy can perform in building a better world, if it is confined to peaceful and productive activity.

But by far the most impressive footnote on the subject came to me in the repeated words of a scientist speaking not scientifically, or for quotation, but very intimately of his own private thoughts, and his own personal plans. He has lectured a great deal on the subject of atomic energy, and is one of those intimately concerned with its development. Suddenly, one day he realized that he had better make some personal plans to prepare for the future in this atomic age of which he had spoken so much. His work is near one of the several prime targets of any enemy bombs that would be dropped.

No Refuge

From A-Bomb

So he began to consider. Should he try to get transferred to some smaller institution, located in a lit-That, he considered. tle town? would not help much. He has a farm, but he is not a farmer. Should he move onto the farm immediately, learn as much as he could about farming, and plan to live there where he would be comparatively safe? The farm is far from any large city, tucked in the hills.

Then he started planning. He would have to learn a lot more than farming. He would have to learn to card wool, for instance; his wife would have to learn to spin, to weave, to make soap, to fabricate all the things you buy in stores. He would have to lay in tools, and enough other supplies to last him the rest of his lifetime.

Well, perhaps all that could be done. Then he realized that even at that, he wouldn't be safe. He would have to build barbed wire entanglements, and obtain machine guns and other weapons with which to defend himself . . . for with the refugees who escaped, starving, from the cities, the few who had food would be at the mercy of the hungry mobs.

If I had heard those statements from a lecture platform, or read them in a magazine, I might have passed them by as sensationalism. But the statements weren't in a magazine, or spoken from a platform. They were said over the luncheon table in the quiet corner of a club. The speaker wasn't trying to "sell" his ideas to anybody. He wasn't trying to persuade anybody to do anything, or to get publicity. He was thinking out loud about what he considered an acute personal problem.

In the end it left him baffled. There is no defense.

The only hope is to make the United Nations work.

SENATE COMMITTEE ACTS

Farm Prices Taken Out of OPA

WASHINGTON. - Power to say industries could appeal for removal from food and other farm products was taken away from OPA and given to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson by the senate banking committee which is considering the price control bill.

Chairman Wagner (D., N. Y.) announced after a closed meeting that the vote was 12 to 2.

Tentatively, the committee agreed on a general plan for ending the wartime controls over prices as production of goods begins catching up with demand. It embraces three main points:

1. A policy formula, proposed by Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), calling for removal of price ceilings by the end of the year on all commodities not important to business costs or to living costs, and removal of other ceilings when supply and demand reach a ratio where a price increase other than a temporary fluctuation would not result.

Independent Appeal Board. board of three members to which increase for a commodity.

when price ceilings should be lifted of ceilings if the Office of Price Administration declined to lift them. This was proposed by Senator Millikin (R., Colo.). 3. Lodging of control over food and farm prices in the department of agriculture.

A subcommittee of three was appointed to put this three-point program into legislative language. The members are Senators McFarland (D., Ariz.), Fulbright (D., Ark.) and Millikin (R., Colo.). When they have completed their draft, the full committee will consider and take a for-

Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) sponsored the proposal to let the secretary of agriculture decide when ceilings should be lifted from farm products. Under his amendment, the secretary would advise every 30 days whether supplies of a farm commodity had reached sufficient volume so that ceilings should come off. If he decided they had, OPA would be required to lift them. The 2. Creation of an independent secretary also could direct a price

Hires Vets and War Widows Only; Finds Them Best

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y .- Last January the Commonwealth Aircraft, Inc., inaugurated the experiment of hiring only veterans or war widows in its plants, to the exclusion of others. The plan worked so well that it has been made a permanent policy.

Raymond Voyes, president, said the company, which manufactures private planes, currently has 500 veterans employed at the Valley Stream plant and expects to hire 1,000 more. In addition, 1,500 more veterans will be added to its Port Washington, N. Y., plant.

Mr. Voyes said that not only have production figures increased, but personnel turnover among veterans is only 0.5 per cent, compared with about 31/2 per cent among the company's civilian employees.

"GOLD!" The magic word was spoken. It was heard and repeated. Gold in Colorado for the taking. Nuggets as big as turkey eggs all over the mountains. As the story traveled, it was embellished in retelling. Overnight in 1858. "Pikes Peak or Bust" became the nation's slogan.

Men of every nationality, occupation and station in life joined the Pikes Peak gold rush, one of the great mass migrations in America's history. They swarmed into the Colorado mountains, whooping it up as they went. In their wake followed farmers to settle in the fertile valleys. From Texas, across the open grasslands, were driven herds of longhorn cattle.

Down south in Georgia, W. Green Russell heard about it. He organized a party of 30 or 40 miners and set out for the Pikes Peak region, hardly sleeping until he reached the banks of the South Platte and made camp. Within a month he had been joined by 400 others and the settlement was dignified by the name Auraria, in honor of Russell's town back in Georgia.

Thousands of others were on their way. A year later General Larimer crossed Cherry creek, took possession of some cabins and named the settlement Denver City, in honor of Gen. James W. Denver, governor of Kansas. (At that time, Colorado-as yet unnamed-was a part of Kansas territory). Wild days followed on that 960-acre townsite. Thousands of excited people thronged the dusty streets. Soon Denver was the Mecca of the Mountains. A printing plant was brought from Omaha, and the Rocky Mountain News made its debut (1859). Soon thereafter the Herald was founded. The files of those early-day newspapers tell a story of lusty life in Denver, of gambling, Indian scares and promised riches for all men.

The Denver scene was re-enact-

They homesteaded in the Great American desert and they made it bloom. The beet and potato industry around Greeley, founded by the old Union colony, is a monument to pioneers in irrigation. All along the South Platte basin, from Denver and Fort Collins to Sterling and Julesburg, is a mighty agricultural empire. T MIGHT seem strange to say that a manager whose ball club has been doing very well indeed could be even close to the border line of a predicament, much less the brink of an abyss. But for ten years Boston, always a great baseball town with a great baseball tradition, has been dreaming vain dreams of recovering some of its lost glory. There were the winning days of Jimmie Collins, Bill Carrigan and others, who carried the Red Sox banner high. But in spite of the millions Tom Yawkey has fed into his purchases and pay roll, the Red Sox thus far have been on the outside peering in.

Now Cronin has his team winging away at a record clip. He has come through with the hitting and the pitching for which only the most rabid fan ever could hope. Outside of Ted Williams, Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr, no one could figure that so many Red Sox would hit so well. No one could figure Mickey Harris winning six straight, with able support from Tex Hughson, Joe Dobson and Dave Ferriss.

Can't Hold the Pace

Joe Cronin's predicament is this: no one can expect so many of his men to continue to blast the ball with such deadly effect; and no one can figure that Mickey Harris can continue to hold such winning form, although Mickey is a much improved pitcher over past seasons before the war, when he failed to break even.

If the Red Sox had broken from the wire at a steady clip, there would have been no such excitement as reigns in Boston today. As it now stands, any Red Sox slump, which is certain to occur later on after such early speed, is bound to cause a reaction up Boston way.

There is the chance, of course, that the Red Sox today have what the old Yankees once carried when they almost wrecked the league, practically closing out the season in late July or early August. It could happen. After all, Cronin's hired men have shown power at bat and power in the pitcher's box, which are the two main spots of the game. However, an early rush to the front can lead to much brooding later on.

It is still my contention that the Tigers have the best pitching staff in baseball, followed by the Cardi-But Red Sox pitching, in addition to being an improvement over what it looked to be earlier, also has run-making and fielding support that will bag many a ball game through the summer ahead. However, Boston's long-suppressed supporters should understand that it is still a long way to October.

Chasing the Cardinals

My good friend Eddie Dyer, once a star halfback in Texas, is shocked over the fact that his team is still called a 3-5 shot against the field.

"We have a good, sound ball club," Eddie says, "but no team is that good-not even the Red Sox, today. Too many things can happen in a ball game. Too many things can happen to your best men. There are other good teams in this league, teams much improved over last season. This includes the Dodgers, Braves, Reds and the Giants. Both Cubs and Pirates will soon begin picking up speed. After ali, the weather has made this an uncertain spring as far as any rating goes. I don't believe many people understand what such players as Reese, Reiser and Herman mean to the Dodgers. They are all winning ballplayers."

One of Eddie Dyer's greatest thrills so far has been the fine showing of Terry Moore, not only a great ballplayer but a fine man to have on any club. After being away from action for some time in the army, Terry has been hitting far above his prewar punch; and Terry is no longer a kid. When you look at such ballplayers as Musial, Marion, Kurowski, Moore and others-plus the Cardinal pitching staff-whether or not you are a Giant, Dodger, Cub or Brave fan, this is the club to be watched once they have squared away from the summer festivities.

it might also be suggested that Billy Southworth has turned in a fine job with the Boston Braves, a club supposed to be planted in the second division. The Braves may finish there, but they are a big improvement over the Braves of other years. They are a hustling outfit, as Billy Southworth's teams always have been.

This can be baseball's greatest attendance year, with many thousands to spare, if the two pennant races remain reasonably close, for it isn't any too easy to keep the popeyed fan keyed up when his home club is outclassed and far out of the race. The danger spots here are the Red Sox and the Cardinals, but both can run into more severe competition than one might lock for. Both Messrs. Cronin and Dyer confirm this observation. Few horse races ever are won in the first quarter; this also goes for a pennant race.

Good Lighting Adds to Comfortable Living

GOOD home lighting not only adds to cheerful and comfortable living but also provides above. living but also provides a cheap form of accident prevention, writes Myrtle Fahsbender, director of home lighting for Westinghouse in 2—Having enough light when and Capper's Farmer, a magazine of national circulation.

'To say 'home is what the abc's ows in the room. of good lighting help to make it' is to take considerable liberty with a very tender expression," she points out in the magazine read by 1,250,-000 farm families. "But it's paraphrased with real sincerity. For unless a home is cheerful and comfortable by night, as well as during daylight, it has sacrificed some of the livability good lighting can give. PROPER FEEDING OF CHICK DURING INCUBA-TION IS VITAL FACTOR

Growing Embryo Must Be Fully Nourished to Develop Into Vigorous Chick.

Feed the chick before it's hatched! That's a part of the modern way of raising baby chicks. Sounds different, doesnt it?

Actually, chicks sold at the hatchery or local feed dealer are not day-old chicks. They are 22 days old. They were 21 days old before they were batched out of the shell During the 21 days they are still in the shell, they had to be fed. This is known as embryo-feed-get off to a good start. Proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins-all of them must be there to make a bouncing baby chick. From where do all these food materials come? All of them must come from the feed that the hen eats. If there is a shortage of just one essential vitamin in her ration, there is a shortage of that vitamin in the egg she lays. When hatched, an inferior chick results.

When buying baby chicks, the chick raiser must manage to get a look behind the scenes. Questions must be It's very important to learn what ration was fed the breeder flock from which the eggs were obtained. The production record of the flock and whether or not there has been trouble from disease should be looked into also.

A fertile soil supports a healthy people; a poor top soil is the basis for poor health.

Had you ever thought that it is man's plow that has made the waters of our rivers thick with mud, leaving behind acres of barren sub-soil.

A well sodded terrace outlet is to a terrace what a well constructed foundation is to a building.

A Generous Disposition "Friend," said Plodding Pete, "I want to ask you a favor.

"I haven't time to listen to you," said the pedestrian. "I suppose you're expectin' me to ask you for money."

"You needn't. I'm broke." "Well, jes' to show dat I'm a good feller an' don't carry no illwill, jes' wait here till I panhandle up an' down de block a couple o' times an' I'll lend you some."

MAJOR WILLIAM HENRY YAEGER ANNOUNCES PLATFORM

The district's air-minded candidate for congress, Major Wm. Henry Yaeger of Hebbronville, started his campaign by announcing the platform on which he will seek office. At a meeting held early this week with a group of his supporters, Yeager stated that he was a Democrat, a strong Jeffersonian disciple, and would support to his fullest, the Democratic Party.

A veteran of seven years service with the Armed Forces, he stated that he fully understood the many problems of the World War II veterans, and that he believed in the G. I. Bill of Rights. He strongly advoates, however, revision which would ermit a more practical application of the benefits as set forth in the Bill. "There is too much red-tape." he stater, "in the application for oans; as an example, and the average veteran fulfilling the prerequisites of certain titles and basic applications, can float a joan thru any reputable banking institution without the benefit of the G. I. Bill Its score can be widened considerably, and its application broadened to a greater extent; the Bill could be made much more flexible and practical. It should be so revised."

He stated that he recognized thoroughly the need for dams and reservoirs for the Rio Grande Valley, teachers to secure special certificates and that he would do all in his powill be the 5th and 6th of July, ac- wer to complete the fight for these dams and reservoir projects started in 1914 when the same site was F. Schweers. There will be no more chosen for the first dam by the enexaminations until after school has gineers, at Salineno. As a rancher started. Applications should be made ranching under great difficulties in at the superintendent's office before Jim Hogg County, he was fully cognizant of the fact that man needs two basic substances to survive, soil There are still some vacancies in and water. "I learned that fact quite the county, according to Mr. early in life," he stated, " and the Schweers, ne said that many teach- fact has been driven home forcibly ers who had come out of retirement to me since.'

He is for military training in schools and higher institutons of learning to replace the present systhat the universities and colleges are tem of compulsory military training not turning out as many teachers as as advocated by the military authorities. Promotions would be based on a competitive basis, and the training under the skilled supervision of competent, professional soldiers.

HONDO ORGANIZATION TEAMS He contends that too little effort has been put forth in the industrial Three softball clubs are in the development of the district. He process of being formed now in Hon- champions ports, waterways, highdo, with plans calling for perhaps ways and low-cost transportation of two more. A league is being planned freight. To the farmer he announces that he favors rural electrification and a more vigorous application of the various federal farm agencies.

On international problems he advocates a strong effective foreign policy, knowing full well that the country can never isolate itself from the rest of the world. Having served on the Inter-American Defense Board for a considerable period, he realizes the importance of a practial Good Neighbor Policy, asserting that "we do not have to buy the riendship of these American Republics who would do business with us on any henorable basis." To the older constituents he promises active support of any Old Age Pension Bill which will encourage the retirement of workers at the age of 60, creatng more vacancies for younger

Congress Lacks Courage

To Solve Our Problems WALKED ACROSS the broad, beautiful lawns of Lafayette park with its century-old trees, toward the White House. The fountain playing in the foreground beyond the high iron fence, flowers in bloom, sun bright, peaceful, as traffic rolled leisurely up and down Pennsylvania avenue. I flashed my pass at the gate, and the guard waved me up the paved driveway toward the White House press room.

It wasn't a good press conference. felt sorry for the President, a little embarrassed. For here he heading the world's most powerful nation . . . the world's biggest government . . . the world's only great Democracy and he was, figuratively, wringing his hands.

Why was he wringing his hands? There is only one answer. Because the world's most powerful nation, the world's biggest government and the world's only great Democracy is not united behind him. Our power is being clipped and hacked until other nations who stood shoulder to shoulder with us are fearful. Our legislative branch of the government is cringing, supine, and there is not a vestige of leadership apparent on either side of the political fence. What little legislation that is enacted is shot-gun legislation, worse than none.

And our great Democracy, under test at this moment as never before in history . . . watched by the rest of the world . . . is apparently futile, running in circles, seemingly rudderless . . . without unity, tacking this way and that with every gust of a wilful wind.

Selfishness in Saddle

Why? Because personal selfishness is rampant . . . because arrogant labor leaders grasp at moments of national opportunity to seek more power . . . because members of congress are afraid to face . . because farmers refuse to sell grain at parity prices even when their government offers a bonus, to feed starving fellow human beings . . . because ranchers and cattle raisers sell meat to the black market so they can get more than ceiling prices . . . because every mother's son of us will buy from the black market or any place else in our scramble to get what we want when we want it . . . because manufacturers withhold goods from market waiting for inflation prices because industrial and business leaders grab the opportunity created by selfishness of labor leaders to penalize all labor . . because congress, stung, as John L. Lewis single-handed, defies the government and slows up the reconversion program in his grab for power and money, fiddles and "deliber-. . . because business men in ates" their mad grab for more money would tear away the last vestige of controls for a shibboleth they have named "free enterprise" and which is not freedom but license-and so we are quarreling and squabbling and stumbling and staggering . and the world which looked toward this nation as the hope of the world . the one great, firm rock . . . now gasps with amazement and horror, their hopes rapidly fading. 'And We Jitterbug'

We have wealth, the productive canacity in field and factory, the raw materials, the manpower, the know-how, the consumer demand, the world demand, we have everything including the amputees, the soul weary veterans, the lame and halt-wounded, the hospitalized victims of a world war . . . and we have the ideal for which they fought and a quarter of a mittion of them died. We have the atomic bomb with which a wavering congress is afraid to deal . . . and all humanity fears a erayen man with a gun in his hand . . . and we j'tterbug.

We are deadlocked everywhere along every front . . . our secretary of state makes commitments and our congress knocks the props from under him and from under our veterans and members of the armed forces. If congress had deliberately set out to sabotage and hamstring our foreign policy they could have done nothing more injurious than what they did do by voting their own personal selfishness on the selective service bill, responding to election year pressures.

At this particular time in the world's history there is no substitute for strength and this most powerful nation is showing nothing but weakness . . . all brought about by personal selfishness and intolerance.

And when you watch this thing first hand . . . as it is unfolded here in Washington, it is not a pretty thing to see, nor to contemplate. Are we going to let the rest of the world down . . . are we going to let ourselves down . . . for what is happening is there for all to see . . . it's in your town and on your farm and it's here in Washington.

Kathleen Norris Says:

"Do You Know What You Want?"

Bell Syndicate.-WNU Features.

"We did carpentering, painting, gardening, built walls and window-boxes and a bathroom, and had more fun than we ever had.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

COME women know what they want. Others only know what they don't want.

The difference is that between happiness and unhappiness, failure and success. The negative attitude destroys. The positive attitude always constructs.

The woman who only knows what she doesn't want talks to you somewhat like this:

"Yes, my dear, we unlucky Bakers are still in the same dreadful apartment-I dislike that school intensely, but I'm keeping the children there, and there's no use mov-ing. Harry's worried about bills and he says we've got to economize if we expect to find a better place, but you simply can't these days. No, he's still with Miller and Miller: dreadful-they pay the lowest salaries in town, but there's no help It's bills—we seem haunted by bills. I hate them as much as anyone, but what can you do?'

This woman hates everything in her life; her house, her clothes, her meals, dishwashing and ironing and bedmaking-and she does nothing about it. Presently she begins to blame her husband for the whole thing; she convinces herself that she never really loved him, and honestly feels that any change would be for the better. She simply can't stand things the way they are any longer. So another home goes on the rocks simply because the mother and wife takes the negative instead of the positive attitude.

Cure Is in Your Heart.

If you happen to be one of the women who doesn't want anything she has, but at the same time hasn't formed any definite picture of what she does want, the cure for you lies entirely in your own heart and mind. This is one of the miracles of life, and it is a pity not to take advantage of it.

In other words, stop thinking of what you don't want, and begin to think of what you do. It sounds simple, but it takes some courage, some imagination, some consistency to Once you get started, everything is smooth sailing. Your husband becomes not an obstruction and an enemy, but a partner. The things you dislike in your life become only so many upgrades to be passed on the road. When you get to the top of the slope, you get a finer view.

"We have pulled ourselves up by our own bootstraps," says a man's letter, which reached me this week. "Everything was going wrong with Tess and me, when she wrote you. Your so-much-older-advice sounded rather romantic and impracticable, at first, but we tried it. You said first to look the money question squarely in the eye; this was hard. I wasted in my way and Tess hated any supervision of her expenditures. But we faced it, decided where we could cut, and took our two boys, then aged 7 and 9, into our councils. My salary was $300 a month, with no rent to pay. Our bills totaled $2,400. It scared us, and we decided that Tess should take part-time work until they were paid. This ended the divorce idea we'd both been entertaining in a half-hearted sort of way. The boys' spending money came down with a rush; we paid off all but $200 in bills in six months and began to buy government bonds. We talked of nothing but a small

A NEW ATTITUDE

Many women are dissatisfied with their lot. There are always some problems that are hard to solve, some difficulties that seem almost unbearable at times. As Miss Norris points out, most women know what they don't want, but few know clearly exactly what they do want. The difference in attitude can make all the difference between happiness and misery.

Two letters quoted in today's article bring this out. The first is from a woman who is complaining about everything . . the apartment, the children's school, her husband's salary . . . and worst of all, the perpetual flood of bills.

The other letter is from a man whose wife had asked Miss Norris for advice some time ago. This couple was drifting toward divorce. They were just tired of the friction occasioned by life in a crowded apartment, and by the expenses that seemed always greater than they had expected. They decided to try the plan Miss Norris outlined. After a few months they were out of debt. A little while later they were able to pay down on a little place in the country. Working in the ad repairing the cottage gar em an objective and an gave outlet.

country place, cost around $6,000 and one day we found it, shabby, unlived in for years, rather remote, but priced at $3,400. We jumped at it, did painting, carpentering, gardening, built walls and paths, window-boxes and a bathroom, and had more fun than we've ever had in our lives. That was two years ago; we're out of debt now, the new busline runs by our corner, we've been offered $11,000 for our property and wouldn't dream of selling.

Everything Rosy Now.

"My salary is now $400 and Tess and the boys sell sandwiches and mugs of coffee for 25 cents all day Saturday and Sunday to passersby, down under the trees at the gate. Last season they put more than $900 in the bank, and the boys' college expenses are safe.

"We were a negative, unsatisfied, crowded family in a five-room flat, four years ago, a family that knew what it didn't want, but had no idea what it did.

"We were still crowded, in debt, worried, unsympathetic, when we sat down to face the situation and begin to say 'we do,' instead of 'we don't.' Now we are independent, strong, our boys normal happy youngsters, and my wife and I more united than we were when we were bride and groom. We've lately been joined by a young lady who takes it for granted that we think her more precious than the Koh-i-noor diamond, and she is right."

This is a true letter, and the fact is true, too. Change from thinking what you don't want to thinking what you do want, and watch your life shape into a similar miracle.

Women Barred From Colleges American colleges and universities, in giving priority to returning veterans and civilian men, are barring tens of thousands of women from higher education.

Speakers, representing 200 institutions, urge colleges to provide facilities for women as well as for veterans. Unless a more enlightened policy is adopted toward women applicants, they stress, many thousands of girl high school graduates will be unable to gain admit-

HOOVER AND REPORTERS

WASHINGTON. - When Herbert Hoover staged a press conference after his talk with President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, newsmen immediately asked what President Truman had told him.

The former chief executive-who had as rough a time with the press as any United States President in this century-replied with deep feel-

"There ought to be a law," he said, "against anyone repeating what the President has said to him."

Hoover also refused to answer any questions about administration measures to meet the European emergency, and would not give any opinion when asked if U. S. rationing might be necessary.

ARMY DENTISTS

At long last Maj. Gen. Norman Kirk, who has the reputation for hoarding more medical manpower than any other surgeon general in history, has decided to let a few more doctors slip through his fingers and go back to civilian prac-

He has decreed that all medical corps officers who have served 30 months as of May 1 can be released from the army before June 30.

However, this does not apply to army dentists, who are now getting to be the forgotten men of the U.S.

For some strange reason best known to General Kirk, general service doctors can get out of the army after 30 months, but a dentist must remain in 39 months. And today there are hundreds of patriotic dentists who gave up good practices to join the army, now marking time at army posts, unable to get discharged.

Furthermore, the brass hats have permitted the discharge of many younger dentists, while older men have to stay on. Many of the youngsters, educated at army expense, have been declared "essential to civilian practice" and discharged, while older men with families to support, can't get out. This means that younger dentists get their civilian practice firmly established before older men can even begin to look for scarce office space.

HOW TO HANDLE LEWIS

Towering Gov. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, who packs close to 250 pounds and a droll wit, tells this story about a chat with a "prominent Republican" during a recent visit to Wash-

"Why doesn't Truman do something about John L. Lewis," complained the GOP-er, "instead of sitting around on his hands while Lewis ties up production in the entire country?

"Lewis is a tough man to handle," said Kerr. "What would you suggest that the President do?" "I could give him plenty of ideas

if I had the chance.

"Okay," said Kerr. "I'm going to give you the chance. I'm a close friend of Harry Truman. In fact, I am going to see him tomorrow morning. And I happen to know that right now. more than anything in the world, he wants the answer to this coal strike. So you just sit down and write out the solution and I'll give it to him the first thing in the morning." The discussion ended right there.

RAIL BITTERNESS

For a long time, bad blood had existed between the trainmen-engineer brotherhoods and the other three-conductors, switchmen and firemen. It has been somewhat like the CIO-AFL row, but the bitterness deepened after the Roosevelt arbitration dispute.

Whitney, at the time, sent a letter to all his trainmen excoriating the other brotherhoods for refusing to arbitrate-a letter which doesn't out him in such a good light today. Among other things, he made up a little poem which read:

"Three blind mice-hear how they talk!

They all refuse to arbitrate-They're gambling with their country's fate-Though the hour is getting late For the three blind mice."

"Were they afraid to trust the President?" Whitney asked his fellow trainmen in the round-robin letter. "Or is it possible that they (the other three brotherhoods) were playing organization politics in the hope that they may strengthen their numerical and financial condition?"

TINX FALKENBERG and her Jhusband, Tex McCrary, are doing such an outstanding job on their husband-and-wife radio program that it's too bad they're not on a coast-to-coast hookup. Maybe NBC will so something about it; now they're just on the New York station, WEAF. Recently they did their broadcast from a plane that hovered over New Jersey and Connecticut while they talked. Jinx, who's forsaken the movies at least until the stork arrives, looked lovely in a coral-colored coat, with a twist of colored stuff in her hair. McCrary's newspaper experience, plus his work during the war, add tremendously to the value of their program, of

If NBC doesn't have Fred Allen repeat the broadcast he and Talullah Bankhead did on May 5, there'll be a lot of disconsolate people wailing for months because they missed it. It was hilarious. Those who did hear it are still talking about it, and repeating bits of dialogue for those who didn't. It was one of Fred Allen's best, which is saying plenty.

Bob Hawk, CBS quipmaster, not only pinch-hit for ailing Arthur Godfrey on the latter's morning broadcasts, he's also substituted for Godfrey in the Broadway revue, "Three to Make Ready" - marking his debut on the New York stage.

For his starring role in RKO's "Nocturne" George Raft will have the benefit of advice from one of Broadway's most famous detectives. Barny Ruditsky. Producer Joan Harrison, a stickler for realism, wants Raft to be an authentic replica of a real detective, not one of those unbelievable creatures we often see on the screen. Ruditsky worked on cases involving famous gangsters for 20 years.

The National Barn Dance originates from McLeansboro, Ill., Saturday, June 8, when the gang joins the American Legion in a national homecoming celebration for National Comdr. John Stelle, which will end with an old-fashioned barbecue at midnight.

Bob Burns had to turn down an invitation to head the Hoboes' Association of America, but he does hold a life membership card in the association, having fulfilled the two big requirements -hoboing in every state of the union and totaling 100,000 miles.

Barbara Jo Allen, who created the man-chasing "Vera Vague" and then turned "Vera" into a dramatic star on a recent CBS "This Is My Best" broadcast, creates still another character in the picture, "Earl Carroll's Sketchbook," now in production. In the movie she portrays a wise-cracking designer, but one who has no designs on any man!

Parks Johnson and Warren Hull will return from vacation with a sponsor, broadcasting "Vox Pop" at a new time - they'll replace the CBS "Inner Sanctum." Meanwhile Parks is resting on his Texas ranch, and Hull's doing some experimental television shows.

That Hollywood smallpox scare sort of wrecked Alan Hale. His vaccination not only took hold of his left arm, it took a bit of the arm with it, leaving quite a wound. Hale was temporarily out of the "Cheyenne" cast.

ODDS AND ENDS-Producer Seymour Nebenzal discovered, in searching for a fat Chinaman to play a heavy in "The Chase," that there's a shortage of them, so—he's changed the script and is testing obese Chinese women. . . Reese Taylor, of "Young Dr. Malone," has been in radio 14 years, but he still suffers badly from mike fright. . . Tex Beneke and the Glenn Miller band have ten network wires weekly now; they're featured on "Matinee at Meadoubrook" Saturdays, in addition to night-time programs. . . Flavorful Meats

There's not much choice of meat In the markets today, but if you are fortunate enough to get any at all, consider yourself supremely lucky. Just in case you've forgotten some of the fine points in preparing meat, I'm going to review some of the rules of good cooking today.

For years, we've been telling you about cooking meats at low temperatures. Rationing and the meat scarcity have probably shown you more dramatically than anything else how important low temperature cooking is to gettng the most of the meat. There's less shrinkage and more juicy meat to your credit if you'll keep the oven at 325 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit when roasting. Another point to bear in mind is that no browning is necessary before roasting cuts of meat. Don't worry about their not browningthey will get well browned even at moderate temperature. If you are pot roasting, that is cooking meat with moisture and seasonings, you'll want to brown the meat after it's dredged with flour, but this is because the meat is cooked covered with liquid. Here are some recipes for all types of meats which you may be able to find at least once a week these days. Cook and season carefully so that you will really be able to enjoy the meat to the fullest.

Barbecued Lamb Breast.

(Serves 4) 2 pounds breast of lamb

1 medium onion 1/2 cup chili sauce

1 teaspoon salt

Pepper 14 teaspoon red pepper

1 tablespoon vinegar 1 cup water

Cut lamb into pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Place in a hot skillet and let fatty sides brown Mix chili sauce, red pepper, vinegar and water and pour over lamb. Slice onion and add to the mixture. Cover. Simmer 1/2 hours, then remove lid and let cook slowly for 20 minutes or until barbecue sauce is almost absorbed.

Pork Chops and Rice.

(Serves 5 to 6)

6 port chous 15 cup uncooked rice

234 cups s rained tomatoes

3 tablespoons green pepper, chepped

Lynn Says:

Learn Meat Magie: If you want a super delicious leg of lamb, baste it with buttermilk while roasting. For lamb loaf, made with fresh meat, add 34 teaspoon caraway seed for flavor. If you're shy on meat for meat loaf, make up part of the meat with diced American cheese. Delicious! Pork chops baked with chili sauce or catsup mixed with prepared mustard make grand and tender eating. If you want a bread saver stuffing for breast of veal, cook your noodles until tender and use them for stuffing. Marjoram or parsley makes a good seasoning for veal prepared in any way. Bake a slice of ham and baste with honey and orange juice for a real flavor treat. Mix roquefort cheese with worcestershire sauce and beat until fluffy. Spread on top of hamburgers just before broiling.

Merrily We Roll Along

A National Highway Safety conference is being held in Washington, with its main object safer auto driving. Well, we think its emblem would be four slices of baloney floating in a dish of applesauce. Everybody knows that the incredibly reckless driving and the hundreds of tragedies every day are due chiefly to three facts:

1. Few states make more than a pretense of an adequate test for auto drivers, seven out of ten of whom don't even know the elemental rules of the road.

2. Not a community in America has police enough to make a real war on reckless drivers, and the cops now on the job are almost helpless, due to the fact the courts let the reckless drivers off with piddling fines.

3. Big cities, especially New York, permit flagrantly dangerous speeds on crowded streets day in and day out, with the traffic cops apparently loving it. . . .

"Orson Welles has written a musical with forty scenes, calling for much activity among the audiences.' "-News Item.

If a good title is wanted how about "Welles-A-Poppin"?

VANISHING AMERICANS

"The government won't stand for it."

"Let's see, you had two beers and gave me a quenter; you got 15 cents coming back."

"I e'll get married first and find a place to live afterwards."

"Ask for our 25-cent steak sandwich."

Models, style parades and the distribution of nylons are now features at Yankee stadium ball games. We expect to hear of a pitcher taken out for a bathing beauty any day

. . . CAN YOU REMEMBER -

Away back when you could take the car to a service station and have the curbon cleaned for less than the cost of a new auto?

"Anybody got a one-man power saw they are sick of what works? Mention your needs and I'll take a look out back. NHM 1909."-Yankee magazine.

Prancing Steed That's Easily Made For a Playful Little Three-Year-Old

By Ruth Wyeth Spears

AN OLD broomstick, a piece of scrap lumber, a pattern that gives you actual-size outlines, and presto, you have a dashing, prancing horse. It is easy, for the head is so designed that it may be cut out with an ordinary hand saw. and the mane, eyes, nostrils and bridle may be stenciled of traced and painted.

and painted.

If you are a little more ambitious, the same pattern gives actual-size nattern outlines for all parts of the toduce bike shown here. If you do not have a jig saw to cut the saddle and wheels, just outline them on the material and take it to your nearest woodworker to be cut. He can cut the head in a few minutes too. The pattern shows every step in assembling and gives a complete list of materials for both toys.

LaCoste School Doubles Size

Consolidation of the Sauz school district in Bexar county with the La Coste district of Medina County will double the size of the LaCoste school, it was revealed here this week. As the result of an election on April 13, the two districts will combine to eliminate the need for Bexar students traveling into San Antonio.

The merger will mean a gain of about 100 students. The consolidated district may now proceed with plans for voting on a new tax and making improvements in the school system. Members of the LaCoste board of education are E. J. Keller, Paul Christilles and Max Biediger.
